Organization: Washington University

Panel Summary #2

Proposal Number: 1152472

Panel Summary:

The Political Science Advisory panel noted that the PIs are highly qualified to manage the project and that the proposal could produce sophisticated forecasting work. The development of software that could be used by other scholars to do comparative forecasting made the proposal desirable. However, the panel also noted that it was unclear if the methods/techniques were truly unique and innovative. Panelists also noted that the PIs should be attentive to all of the comments made by reviewers. After discussion, panelists reached a consensus that the proposal should be placed in a fundable category.

The Political Science Advisory Panel rated the proposal as Highly Competitive.

Panel Recommendation: Highly Competitive
